Friday, July 9: Today we will meet Peter Weiss, our guide, for a private walking tour of the highlights of Santa Fe. Peter is a well known photographer and lecturer specializing in fine art, anthropology, and geography. We will learn about Santa Fe's unique culture which is a blend of Spanish, Native American and Old West. Our tour will include the historic plaza at the heart of the city, America's oldest building, the Palace of the Governors and Loretto Chapel. We will have lunch at Museum Hill Cafe followed by a docent led tour of the Santa Fe Botanical Garden. The small Garden celebrates, cultivates and conserves the rich botanical heritage and biodiversity of the region. The garden began as a vision of a small group of local gardeners, botanists and environmentally oriented citizens. Landscape architect W. Gary Smith was hired to create a master plan. The Garden is small, but in five years the plants have grown into a colorful, mature garden.

As guests of the Santa Fe Garden Club we will visit two private gardens this afternoon. We'll walk down meandering paths, discover secret garden rooms, enjoy views of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains and learn about water management.

Continental breakfast, Lunch

Saturday, July 10: This morning we'll continue our exploration of Museum Hill while attending the International Folk Art Market. Santa Fe has for centuries been an international crossroads of culture and commerce.

The city will welcome 160 master artists from 53 countries offering a gallery of the finest handmade folk art traditions. People of all backgrounds and beliefs will unite as the Market welcomes master artists, entrepreneurs, global citizens, and community leaders. The brilliantly clad artists offer textiles, jewelry, beadwork, basketry, wood carvings, ceramics, rugs, glass and metal work, sculpture, mixed media, toys, music and foods. The works of art range from extremely affordable to highly collectible. While on the hill we can tour the fascinating Folk Art Museum housing the world's largest collection of folk art.

In the late afternoon we will be treated to a cooking class and dinner at the Santa Fe School of Cooking recommended by Martha Stewart. Breakfast, Dinner

Sunday, July 11: Today we join Peter for a full day tour to Taos. Our first stop is Chimayo with its legendary Santuario de Chimayo, local crafts and chiles. We'll continue with a guided excursion to Taos Pueblo, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, revealing a way of life unchanged for ten centuries. While in Taos we'll visit the Mabel Dodge Luhan House, long the center of Taos arts and education, considered the artistic salon of the Southwest. We will lunch at one of Taos's best loved restaurants. Later we'll have free time to check out the galleries, boutiques or a museum. Taos is famous for traditional Native American crafts, silver, tin, leather goods and ceramics. Continental breakfast, lunch.

Monday, July 12: After breakfast we have a private docent led tour of the small Georgia O'Keeffe Museum. The Museum offers insight into the artist's paintings, her creative process and the light and landscape that inspired her. One of the most significant artists of the 20th century, Georgia O'Keeffe (1887-1986) was devoted to creating imagery that expressed what she called "the wideness and wonder of the world as I live in it." O'Keeffe's images—instantly recognizable as her own —include abstractions, large-scale depictions of flowers, leaves, rocks, shells, bones and other natural forms. We continue exploring the world of Georgia O'Keeffe with a visit to her home and studio at Abiquiu. Georgia owned two homes in the Chama River valley north of Santa Fe. She bought the first one at the Ghost Ranch in 1940 and the second one in the village of Abiquiu in 1945. In both places, she made the homes her own, suited to her art and life and she occupied both until 1984, when she moved to Santa Fe. After our visit to Abiquiu we will have lunch at the

Inn followed by a tour of Ghost Ranch. Breakfast, Lunch

Tuesday, July 13: The morning is free for last minute shopping or sightseeing. Perhaps a stroll down Canyon Road. This upscale center of the Santa Fe art scene has over 70 art galleries. This afternoon we'll participate in "Behind Adobe Walls". Since 1940 guests have enjoyed Santa Fe's oldest and most prestigious Home & Garden Tour with visit to four unique, seldom-seen private residences.

Tonight we will have a festive farewell dinner with new friends in one of Santa Fe's top restaurants, Santa Café. Continental breakfast, Dinner

Wednesday, July 14: Following breakfast at the hotel, time to say good bye to Santa Fe. Independent returns. Continental breakfast
