Santa Fe Gardens, Art & Cuisine

including the International Folk Art Market

July 11-17, 2018

Escorted by Cheryl & Robert Nichols

Join us in Santa Fe, the oldest Capital in the United States, located in the foothills of the Sangre de Cristo mountains. Discover over 1000 years of culture, history and tradition. Visit a collection of private and public gardens including Santa Fe Botanic Garden and Georgia O'Keeffe's home at Abiquiu. Peruse the fascinating folk art market and learn the secrets of southwestern cuisine at the Santa Fe School of Cooking. We'll be based at the atmospheric Hacienda Hotel & Spa.

Wednesday, July 11: Independent arrivals at Albuquerque International Airport. Take the airport shuttle or a taxi to the hotel.

Meet your traveling companions for a welcome reception in the Hacienda lounge. Later we will enjoy a welcome dinner at the hotel. The 4 star property is centrally located near shops and restaurants. Rooms are air-conditioned with designer toiletries. The hotel has a restaurant, pool, spa and butler!

Thursday, July 12: Today we will meet Peter Weiss, our guide, for a private walking tour of the highlights of Santa Fe. Peter is a well known photographer and lecturer specializing in fine art, anthropology, and geography. We will learn about Santa Fe's unique culture which is a blend of Spanish, Native American and Old West. Our tour will include the historic plaza at the heart of the city, America's oldest building, the Palace of the Governors and Loretto Chapel.

We will have lunch at Museum Hill Cafe followed by a docent led tour of the Santa Fe Botanical Garden. The Garden celebrates, cultivates and conserves the rich botanical heritage and biodiversity of the region. The garden began as a vision of a small group of local gardeners, botanists and environmentally oriented citizens. Landscape architect W. Gary Smith was hired to create a master plan for the new garden. The Orchard Gardens opened in July 2013. A gift shop and Phase 2, Ojos y Manos (Eyes and Hands), opened in 2016. The Courtyard Gardens will be the final phase of development, featuring several small courtyards as commonly seen in Santa Fe residential gardens. The Botanical Garden is still small at just under two acres, but in three years the plants have grown, providing a colorful and mature garden. Continental breakfast, Lunch

Friday, July 13: After breakfast we have a private docent led tour of the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum before it opens to the public. The Museum offers insight into the artist's paintings, her creative process and the light and landscape that inspired her. One of the most significant artists of the 20th century, Georgia O'Keeffe (1887-1986) was devoted to creating imagery that expressed what she called "the wideness and wonder of the world as I live in it." O'Keeffe's images—instantly recognizable as her own—include abstractions, large-scale depictions of flowers, leaves, rocks, shells, bones and other natural forms.

We continue exploring the world of Georgia O'Keeffe with a visit to her home and studio at Abiquiu. Georgia owned two homes in the Chama River valley north of Santa Fe. She bought the first one at the Ghost Ranch in 1940 and the second one in the village of Abiquiu in 1945. In both places, she made the homes her own, suited to her art and life and she occupied both until 1984, when she moved to Santa Fe. Following our visit to Abiquiu we will have lunch at the Inn.

In the late afternoon we will be treated to a cooking class and dinner at the Santa Fe School of Cooking recommended by Martha Stewart. Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Saturday, July 14: This morning we'll continue our exploration of Museum Hill with tickets to the fascinating Folk Art Museum housing the world's largest collection of folk art. We will also attend the International Folk Art Market. Santa Fe has for centuries been an international crossroads of culture and commerce. The city will welcome 160 master artists from 53 countries offering a gallery of the finest handmade folk art traditions. People of all backgrounds and beliefs will unite as the Market welcomes master artists, entrepreneurs, global citizens, and community leaders. The brilliantly clad artists offer —textiles, jewelry, beadwork, basketry, wood carvings, ceramics, rugs, glass and metal work, sculpture, mixed media, toys, music and foods. The works of art range from extremely affordable to highly collectible. Breakfast

Sunday, July 15: Today we join Peter for a full day tour to Taos. Our first stop is Chimayo with its legendary Santuario de Chimayo, local crafts and chiles. We'll continue with a guided excursion to Taos Pueblo, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, revealing a way of life unchanged for ten centuries. While in Taos we'll visit the Mabel Dodge Luhan House, long the center of Taos arts and education, considered the artistic salon of the Southwest. We will lunch at Lamberts, one of Taos's best loved restaurants. Later we'll have free time to check out the galleries, boutiques or a museum. Taos is famous for traditional Native American crafts, silver, tin, leather goods and ceramics. Continental breakfast, lunch.

Monday, July 16: After breakfast, we will have special visits to four private gardens.

The first garden has spectacular views of the Jemez and Sangre de Cristo mountains. The designer created a garden that blends an aura of antiquity with Moorish architectural elements, framed vistas, exquisite accents and lush plantings.

The second garden was a "refresh" by designer Mark Brotton. The home is traditional Santa Fe style with ornate woodwork. The owners asked Mark to work on reducing water usage and to incorporate a sustainable native plant palette. The property is accented by a natural boulder fountain, a Honey Locust tree with beautiful canopy, and stunning views of the Rockies.

Our third garden was designed by Reese Baker. The design was based on water. Harvesting water onsite, water catchment, and waste water reuse. Many aspects of the design were set up to create food, biodiversity, habitat and forage for wildlife. There are currently 35 trees on a 1/4 acre lot with chickens and a pond containing frogs and fish.

The last garden has meandering paths with secret garden rooms. We'll see rose arbors, native meadows, a pond and waterfall, aspen groves, fruit trees and eclectic garden art.

The afternoon is free for last minute shopping or sightseeing. We suggest a stroll down Canyon Road. This upscale center of the Santa Fe art scene has over 70 art galleries.

Tonight we will have a festive farewell dinner with new friends in one of Santa Fe's top restaurants. Continental breakfast, Dinner

Tuesday, July 17: Following breakfast at the hotel, time to say good bye to Santa Fe. Independent returns. Continental breakfast
